Fifty Horses Wanted.
Mr. Joe Kinding of York, Pa., will be at Mrs. Daulton & Bro.'s Stable, Maysville, Ky., on Tuesday, May 5th, 1896, and will pay the highest market prices for good sound Horses or Mares from 4 to 6 years old, well broken and in good flesh. Bring in good ones and get the money for them. Don't forget the date.

DELIBERATE SUICIDE.

The Rev. James A. Caywood Ends His Life.

HE WAS EVIDENTLY INSANE.

A few weeks ago the Rev. James A. Caywood, a Methodist Minister, whose home was near Sardis, was tried before Judge Hutchins and a Jury for insanity.

In his wisdom the Jury pronounced him of sound mind, in face of the fact that he had declared an irresistible passion at long times to take his own life, and that he had made several attempts to do so.

Tuesday he was admitted to the County Infirmary, and throughout the day appeared pleased with the surroundings and talked rationally with his fellow inmates.

Several times he got up during the night, as stated by his roommates, the last time about 3 o'clock, but they thought nothing of it and dropped off to sleep.

About 5 o'clock Wednesday morning he was found hanging by a stout leather strap pending from a bracket of the portico fronting his cottage.

When Superintendent Ed. Slattery reached the body it was still warm, though life was extinct.

The strap was carefully arranged with a slip knot, and the body was in a kneeling posture, and the unfortunate man had literally choked himself to death—all going to show that his self-murder was deliberate.

Mr. Caywood was about 50 years of age, had been married several times, and it is learned that he had his share of domestic troubles.

Coroner Row held an inquest, returning a verdict of suicide.

The remains were turned over to relatives for interment.

ALTOGETHER DIFFERENT.
He looked upon his daughter with a vain and smiling pride.

He was glad to see her in the social swim. But he looked and smiled and smiled and looked until he nearly died.

As he counted up the cost when the bills came in.

A Nannie Bulger, colored, tried to commit suicide by the poison route at her home on the Lexington pike.

Services by the Rev. Donald McDonald at the First Presbyterian Church at 4 p. m. and 7:30 p. m. The public cordially invited.

There have been seven additions to the First Presbyterian Church during the series of meetings by the Rev. Donald McDonald.

Mr. Charles Hopper, who lives near Winchester, was thrown from a buggy a few weeks ago, getting a severe blow on his head, which left him in a very feeble condition. He formerly resided in this city.

Mrs. Charles White, formerly of this city, died at Flemingsburg Monday night at the home of her brother, Dr. J. C. Wangh. The funeral took place at 9 o'clock this morning, and the interment will be at the Maysville Cemetery at 1 o'clock p. m. today.

An ordinance prohibiting the ringing of Church bells will be introduced in the Council at Maysville, on the ground that many good people who are not worshippers are greatly annoyed by the noise of the bells, and that the effect upon the sick and nervous is very disastrous.

REUNION.

William Fristoe Thrown Out and Run Over.

ANOTHER FORTUNATE ESCAPE.

There was a narrow escape from death on Union street about 10 o'clock Tuesday morning.

Mr. William Fristoe, son of Mr. William T. Fristoe of Forest avenue, was driving along that thoroughfare with a cart.

The tailboard fell out, the horse frightened and there was a fully developed runaway on tap in about four seconds.

Mr. Fristoe was thrown out and the wheel of the heavy cart passed over him.

It was at first thought that he was internally injured, as he spit up considerable blood.

The horse kept on until he reached the neighborhood of Mr. Delmore Daulton's at Second and Poplar, when the cart struck a tree and the animal "stripped" himself of cart and all other encumbrances.

At last accounts Mr. Fristoe was improving and was considered out of danger.

Bicycles Rented at Geisel & Bradley's, opposite Opera-house.

Forty million ticks a day is the output of a factory in Fall River.

Mr. N. S. Wood has moved into a part of Mr. James Hendricks's residence on East Front street.

Millersburg Female College, with ten graduates, will hold its graduating exercises Wednesday morning, June 3d.

A mastodon tooth twelve inches long, nine inches wide and three inches thick was found in Oklahoma recently by A. V. Stewart, who was digging a well on his farm.

In the manufacture of knives the division of labor has been carried to such an extent that one knife is handled by seventy different artisans, from the moment the blade is forged until the instrument is finished and ready for the market.

Prof. C. M. Vincent, member of the Royal Geographical Society of England, who, at the age of 70, is making a tour of the West, has made a special study of mosquitoes. He says he found the insects most ferocious in Greenland and on Cat Island, in the Gulf of Mexico.

This is to certify that on May 11th I walked to Meick's drugstore on a pair of crutches and bought a bottle of Chamberlain's Pain Balm for inflammatory rheumatism which had crippled me up. After using three bottles I am completely cured. I can cheerfully recommend it.

ONE PROFITABLE "JAG."

A Drummer Who Made a Gilt-Edged Investment.

C. J. Bailey of Parkersburg drew $7,300 out of the Commercial Bank of this city yesterday as the earnings of a $300 investment, made involuntarily and unknowingly less than a month ago, says a Whaling telegram to The Pittsburgh Dispatch.

Bailey is a traveling salesman. A little less than a month ago he made a trip through the oil fields, and while at Sistersville got in with a crowd of oil men, with the result that the next day he had a big head, a very poor recollection of what had happened, and was $300 short, according to his memorandum book. He wisely decided that the less publicity he gave the loss the better it would be, and kept still.

On Friday he was coming to Wheeling on the Ohio River Railroad when a stranger approached him with:

"You are C. J. Bailey, I believe?"

"Yes," replied Bailey.

"Well, you will find $7,500 to your credit in the Commercial Bank at Wheeling," replied the stranger. "I put it there day before yesterday, and was about to advertise for you."

Bunko was the first thought of Bailey, but as the stranger did not ask for any show of money and talked all right, Bailey asked for an explanation. It turned out the stranger was one of the men with whom Bailey had been out in the oil fields.

NO AGREEMENT

As to the Principles Has Yet Been Reached,

And Negotiations in the Boundary Dispute Are at a Standstill.

The time is past on Lord Salisbury, who rejected the proposition made by the Washington Government—Prompt Action is Urged on England.

LONDON, April 22.—The Times Wednesday publishes a long dispatch from O. W. Stanley, its correspondent in America, which is devoted to dispelling the illusion that the Venezuelan boundary dispute has passed a dangerous stage, that the negotiations are prospering, and the British blue book on the subject created a favorable impression in the United States. Mr. Stanley says that not one of the going beliefs is well founded. No agreement as to principles has been reached, and negotiations are at a standstill. Nobody seems to know when or how they will be renewed or the deadlock removed. If the American commission declines the Venezuelan boundary address to Great Britain's claim the alternative stands and President Cleveland's message will have to be faced. Mr. Stanley casts the onus on Lord Salisbury who rejected the proposition made by the Washington Government in February, and who does not appear to have made counter proposals. The dispatch dilates upon the reasons for prompt action. It says the uncertainties are many and the perils grave.

The Times, commenting upon this, says that it can't fully share the gloomy anticipations contained in the dispatch, although the remainder is not, perhaps, untimely. It contends elsewhere in its dispatch Mr. Stanley shows that Lord Salisbury has taken other action for opening another scheme for general arbitration to which the paper attaches importance. It also contends that the general project fails, Great Britain ought to be able with prudence to resume the specific case of the Venezuela. The paper remarks upon the good will of the Washington government testified in Mr. Cleveland's eloquent letter to General Barker, the sentiments in which are reciprocated in all circles here.

It also contends that the general project fails, Great Britain ought to be able with prudence to resume the specific case of the Venezuela. The paper remarks upon the good will of the Washington government testified in Mr. Cleveland's eloquent letter to General Barker, the sentiments in which are reciprocated in all circles here.

The Times, commenting upon this, says that it can't fully share the gloomy anticipations contained in the dispatch, although the remainder is not, perhaps, untimely. It contends elsewhere in its dispatch Mr. Stanley shows that Lord Salisbury has taken other action for opening another scheme for general arbitration to which the paper attaches importance.
